The War Against Intoxicants Progresses in Ohio.

Full Battalions Marching On to Columbus.

XENIA, Obio, Feb. 21, 1874. Whatever may be said in regard to the women's whiskey crusade dying out in other parts of Ohio, the same cannot be uttered so far as this place is concerned. After swinging around a circle emracing over 300 miles of territory your correpondent reached Xenia last evening. Although a avy rain storm had set in, and the streets were ancie deep in mud, he discovered that some sort of social commotion was going on. Guests of the principal hotel seemed moved by some quiet and mysterious spirit—not whiskey—and, after makng the acquaintance of a young pioneer in the anti-whiskey war, Mr. Galloway, a well known citizen, I strolled around the town with him,

A TOUCHING SCENE.

I was first astonished to see a crowd of umbrellas t the corner of one of the streets, and next to hear, as if coming from the subterranean caverns of one of your New York theatres, the sounds of music and the vocalization of female voices. fnere was one band of the women of Xenia praying and singing amid the snow and mud in front of a liquor saloon. On the other hand, and some Oyards distant, was another band of women, 200 yards distant, was another band of women, aoing the same service on the sidewalk in root of another saloon, while the wife and enildren of the keeper witnessed the proceedings from the windows above. Benches had been erected for the accommodation of the ladies who were singing on the sidewalk, but the cold and damp brick pavement was their only flooring when in the act of prayer. Meanwhile the streets in the vicinity of these demonstrations presented a curious speciacle. On each hand were seen groups of individuals, mostly young, apparently deeply interested in the exercises, and it would have been a callous heart indeed that could not be moved under the circumstances. To the right and the left of us were visible evidences of some recent havoc among the ammunition of the opposers of the women's crusade.

have among the ammunition of the opposers of the women's crusade.

"RACTICAL RESULTS OF PREACHING.

"See here," said my guide; "that pool in the middle of the street is bair filled with the rum spalled by the keeper of that saloon, who voluntarily rolled out the stuff and broke in the heads of his winskey barrels. Those broken bottles filled with rum were cast into the street, and all this while our women were singing "Glory Hallelubjah." and praying for the reformation of the drunkard."

1 looked at the Shades of Death; they did not resemble the shades, so named, of any English chonemble the shades, so bamed, of any English chop-louse in New York. They were confined to a wooden building, with blinds closed, and showing to more sign of hospitality or entertainment for man or beast than a deserted barn on a lorsaken brairie in midwinter.

man or beast than a deserted barn on a lorsaken prairie in midwinter.

EXEMPLARY REFORMERS.

"Do you see that tail and tolerably good looking man in yonder doorway?"

"Yes; he looks as if he might have been a graduate of a New York Rowery saloon."

"That's Philips, the owner of The Shades of beath. He don't look much like a drinking man. That is on account of his reformation. Take the whiskey from a man for a few days and his appearance improves mightlig."

"Who is that lady that seems to take so much interest in the proceedings?" I asked.

"That is Mrs. Lowe, widow of Colonel Lowe, who lost his life in the service of his country. She was appointed postmistress of Xenna by President Grant, and is a lady whose whole heart and soul are emisted in this woman's war against whiskey." What has stirred up this extraordinary feeling

"What has stirred up this extraordinary feeling here?" I again inquired.
"It is the spirit of the Lord, nothing else. But come in here. I think I can get you in, although it is a private meeting of the ladies."

I followed in compliance, and entering a large hall found about 200 ladies assembled. It was a regular business meeting of the ladies, at which reports were made by the chairmen of the several committees in relation to the progress of the work in the different districts. Every report was satisfactory, and indicated that the cause was progressing in a successful manner. Not a drop of liquor is at this hour to be obtained in Xenia, unless scooped up from the gutters, into which it has been poured by the reformed liquor dealers. Great preparations are being made in Xenia to attend the state Temperance Convention to be held in Columbus on Thesday next, at which delegations will be present from all parts of the State.

The Outlook from Columbus-Lewis Determined to Face a New York COLUMBUS, Ohio, Feb. 21, 1874.

The male influence in the woman's temperance movement having in a measure disappeared, the labor of the ladies is progressing more favorably. Accounts from various parts of the State indicate that the arder of the women, instead of being depressed, is as lively and forcible as ever. As Governor Allen remarked to your correspondent the other day, "If the movement is to succeed keep the men out of it, if it is to fall let them control it. For my part, I believe it to be of an epbemeral character at best." By a singular misapprehension the Cierk of the State Senate, Colonel Sim K. Donaven, was characterized as a "colored individual;" he is the whitest man in the

In Newark last night, between nine and ten O'clock, James Fitzgerald, a gasfitter, resididg Hunter's Point, tried to get on board a train of the Newark and New York Railroad at the Ferry street station while in motion, missed his footing fell between the cars and was almost instantly killed, the body was shockingly mutilated. It was removed to the house of a brother of deceased, who resides in Congress street, Newark. The unfortunate man had been working in Paterson, and on his way home had stopped in Newark to visit his brother. He was about thirty-four year of age, and leaves a whe, but no children. The effect of grinding over the body was such that the passengers on the train jumped up, supposing it had been thrown off the track.

SIX MEN KILLED BY AN EXPLOSION.

Boston, Mass., Feb. 21, 1874. The Traveller publishes an extract from a Phonix Mine (Lake Superior) letter, stating that on the evening of the 15th inst. an explosion of dualin caused the death of six persons. The foldualin caused the death of six persons. The following are the names of the killed:—Captain Hoatson, Captain Johns, Frederick Striker, Joseph Marks, James Marks and William Dunn. Two of the men leave families, one of eight the other of four children.

It is stated that in the outer room of Captain Hoatson, who had charge of the miners, was a quantity of loose dualin, and it was the explosion of this that caused the accident.
The last man who was in the office previous to the explosion says that two men were at work with the dualin, and that one heid a candle.
Captain Hoatson lived till the morning of tho
15th inst. The others were killed instantly.

ANOTHER COMET DISCOVERED.

WASHINGTON, Peb. 21, 1874. Professor Henry received by telegraph this mornsing the announcement from the Academy of Sciences, of Vienna, of the discovery of a comet in right ascension, 20 hours, 42 minutes of declina-log, plus 24 degrees 51 minutes; faint motion toutnesst 23 degrees.

FIRES.

A fire at Denver, Col., on Priday night destroyed Dve dwelling houses, the loss being about $8,000. The buildings were situated on Larimer street. Livery stables at Tilton. N. H., containing horses and apparatus was burned on Friday.

A barn belonging to Colonel J. B. Sprague, at Ithaca, N. Y., was totally destroyed last night. Four choice horses were consumed, and also several carriages and harness and a quantity of hay and sundry articles. Mr. Sprague and family are now in Algiers, Africa, and it is not known whether the property is insured.

At Covington, Ky., on Friday evening a planing mill, owned by Strawbridge & Co., was burned.

CORONERS' CASES.

Suiside by Shooting. On Friday evening Mr. James Sadler, late a clerk or bookkeeper in a store in Elm street, who shot himself through the head with suicidal intent on Wednesday morning last while in a partially deranged state of mind, died in Believue Hospital from the effects of the wound. Coroner Wottman was notified to hold an inquest. The remains of deceased, who was born in South Carolina, were last evening taken to Charlotte, N. C., by his brother, who came on for that purpose.

Panline Whitman, an infant, seventeen months old, who had been left alone in bed by her mother, nving at No. 183 Lewis street, accidentally fell out into a tub of water standing beside the bed and was drowned before Mrs. Wnitman returned. Coroner Eickhoff was notified to hold an inquest.

Coroner Eickhoff was yesterday notified to hold an inquest on the body of Philip Geit, a German, an inquest on the body of rainty does a certain, who died suddenly, on Friday evening, at No. 114 Willett street. Deceased had been under the care of a physician for some days.

Accidentally Scalded.

Michael Wallace, a child only twelve months old, whose parents five at No. 701 East Twelfth street, died from the effects of scalds received by the accidentally upsetting upon him of a cup of boiling tea on Wednesday last. Coroner Eickhoff was noti-fied to hold an inquest, Convulsions from Scalds. Coroner Woltman was called to No. 528 West street to hold an inquest on the body of William Lynch, an infant only sixteen months old, who died from convulsions the result of scalds accidentally received several days ago.

THE ADAIR TRAGEDY IN NEWARK.

The Coroner's inquest in the case of Miss Jeannette Adair, of Newark, was resumed in that city yesterday. The evidence so far elicited proves than become a mother before naving been a bride. The testimony shows that she was intimate with three young men, named Oscar E. Dudley, John H. Jube and John A. Youngolood. No result was reashed yesterday, and the inquest was adjourned till to-morrow. conclusively that she committed suicide rather

CONTESTED SEATS IN THE LEGISLATURE.

Two Committees of the State Legislature on contested Seats were in session yesterday at the Metropolitan Hotel. The Senate Committee, Senator Cole presiding, took testimony in the case of Pinckney against Moore, Eighth Senatorial District. Some fifty citizens who voted at the election were examined, and most of them declared that they had voted for Moore, the sitting member. Mr. Pinckney's counsel, one of whom is United States District Attorney Bliss, contended that their client had been fraudulently counted out, and that in one poiling district, or instance, the votes counted were thirty-three in excess of the "tally." The Assembly Committee, Mr. Vedder presiding.

The Assembly Committee, Mr. Vedder presiding, examined about twenty witnesses in regard to the election in the Eighth Assembly district, but will arrive at no definite conclusion until the end of next week. Both committees adjourned until Monday next. The next case which the Senate Committee will take up is one in a rural district where the sitting member, Thompson, was elected by a majority of only one vote. "Very ticklish case," as a member of the committee called it.

THE ICE HARVEST.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Feb. 21, 1874. All work on the ice houses on the river ceased to-night. The continued thaw has so weakened the ice as to render even foot passage across at will come to Newburg from New York on Monday Clark's large house at Stuyvesant, the New Jersey Company's house, opposite Barrytown, and another at Coxsackie, are full of ice. All the rest of the houses along the river are not quite two-thirds full. Close figuring shows that up to tonight 750,000 tons of ice have been gathered, and the harvest is considered over. Last year 1,500,000 tons were stored.
